From Pastor Kip

Greetings! Well, Christmas and New Years have come and gone, and now one might think we are entering into the humdrum of the rest of the year. However, that's not true.

In the middle of February we will begin the season of Lent. Here are some dates for you. On Sunday, February 10, we celebrate the Transfiguration of our Lord. Then on the next Sunday, February 17, we will begin the Season of Lent. This season concludes on Good Friday, March 29, and then we celebrate Easter on March 31. The end of March seems like a long way from now, but we all know how fast time flies.

So, what are we to do about the Season of Lent. Lent, much like Advent, is a season of reflection and preparation. This time of reflection begins with the offering of ashes on Ash Wednesday. The Ash Wednesday service this year will be February 13, at 7:00 p.m. Ash Wednesday is a time to remember we are called to repent for our sins and allow the Holy Spirit the opportunity to speak to our hearts concerning our past and, more importantly, our future. Thus, the Season of Lent is a time of serious reflection concerning our relationship with the risen Christ.

Sometime during Christmas I mentioned that of the two special Christian events, Christmas and Easter, Christmas was seen as the most critical of the two. The valid reason for this is that if there were no Christmas, there could never have been an Easter. Now that Christmas is past, it is time to prepare for the next huge event in Christian history.

For me, the idea that Good Friday had to happen solely for the forgiveness of my sins, grieves my heart. Sometimes folks might be tempted to rationalize; "Well, all of this happened a long time ago, and I am just one individual among billions and billions of others, so in the big picture why does my perception and understanding of Good Friday and Easter really matter?"

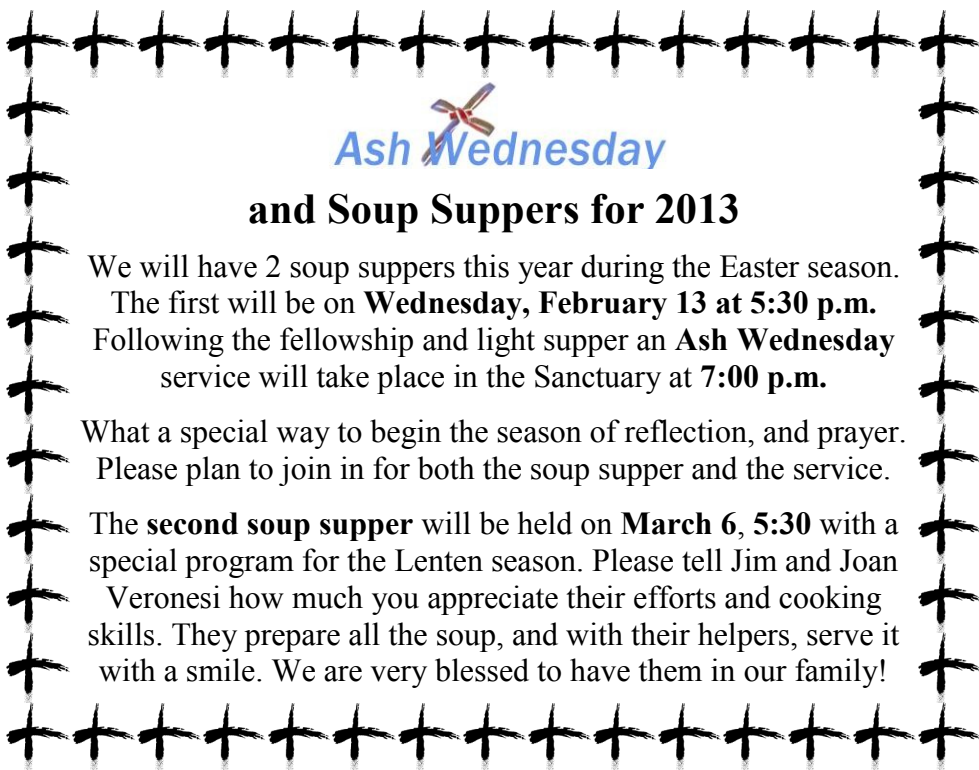

The problem with this rationale is that Jesus died and rose for every individual ever conceived. The vast number of humanity does not diminish the meaning of his death; it multiplies the meaning, because he took the sins of every person upon himself when he died and set every believing person free through his resurrection. So, it is a big deal to each individual person.

It is as big a deal today as it was in the original three-day period of Good Friday and Easter. Think of the impact upon your heart if you had been standing there at the crucifixion, and then witnessed the empty tomb three days later. What would it have been like when you came to understand that Jesus' death and resurrection, which you just witnessed, were all for you. I think most of us would have been absolutely stunned, in a state of shock physically and spiritually. That's how big this is.

So now, we have a few 3 weeks to prepare for this major event. During this Lenten Season, think what it might have been like to have really been there. Think about the suffering Messiah and His empty tomb, as all occurring just for you. We can do this, because it was and still is all for us. Pray and meditate over the meaning of this as the weeks of Lent pass, and we move closer to Maundy Thursday, Good Friday, Palm Sunday and Easter.

God Bless – Pastor Kip

Ash Wednesday
and Soup Suppers for 2013

We will have 2 soup suppers this year during the Easter season.
The first will be on Wednesday, February 13 at 5:30 p.m.
Following the fellowship and light supper an Ash Wednesday service will take place in the Sanctuary at 7:00 p.m.

What a special way to begin the season of reflection, and prayer.
Please plan to join in for both the soup supper and the service.

The second soup supper will be held on March 6, 5:30 with a special program for the Lenten season. Please tell Jim and Joan Veronesi how much you appreciate their efforts and cooking skills. They prepare all the soup, and with their helpers, serve it with a smile. We are very blessed to have them in our family!

THE OTHER SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS

Many people are not aware that an adult Sunday School class meets at 10:45 after the 9:30 service. We meet in Room 114 by the Chapel. Jan Wise is teaching from Max Lucado's study on Galatians. We invite you to join us for Bible study and lively discussion.

SHINGLES, SHINGLES, SHINGLES

What are Shingles and what is the advantages of getting the Shingles vaccine?

Shingles is caused by the varicella zoster virus. This is the same virus that causes chickenpox. Once a person recovers from chickenpox the virus remains dormant in the body. Scientists still haven't discovered the reason why, but the virus may rear its ugly head years later causing shingles, also known as zoster or herpes zoster. The CDC (Center for Disease Control) estimates that 1 out of 3 people in the US will develop shingles. Even children can get shingles. The risk increases as a person gets older. Approximately 50% of cases develop in those over 60. People with compromised immune systems are at a greater risk. Most people typically have only one episode in their lifetime, but in rare cases they can have a second or even a third episode!

Shingles presents commonly as a rash in one or two "dermatomes". A dermatome is defined as an area of the skin supplied by nerve fibers from a single spinal root. The rash usually does not cross the mid line of the body unless the person has a compromised immune system. Even before the rash appears people may experience pain, tingling or itchiness in an area. The rash itself develops into blister-like clusters. These vesicles will continue to form for 2-5 days and progressively dry and crust over. They usually heal in 2-4 weeks, but may leave scarring or pigmentation.

Shingles cannot be spread from one person to another, but the virus can be spread to someone who has never had chicken pox. The virus is spread through direct contact when the rash is in the "blister" phase. A person is not contagious before the rash develops, nor once the rash crusts over, and chances of spreading decrease when the rash is covered.

The most common complication of shingles is postherpetic neuralgia (PHN). PHN is severe pain in the area where the rash occurred. This pain may resolve in a few weeks or may persist for several years. PHN rarely occurs among people under the age of 40 but can occur in up to half of the untreated people 60 and older. Shingles may lead to serious complications involving the eye, but very rarely to pneumonia, hearing problems, blindness, brain inflammation, or death.

Shingles can be treated with several available antiviral medications. They will help shorten the length and severity of the illness, but to be effective should be started as soon as possible after the rash appears. There are a variety of medications available to treat the pain and itchiness associated with the virus.

The CDC recommends the Shingles (Zostavax) vaccine for people 60 and older. This is a one time only vaccination and there is no maximum age for obtaining the vaccine. Even if you have had an episode of shingles you can get the vaccine to prevent future occurrences. At this time the CDC does not recommend the vaccine routinely for people 50-59, although it is approved by the FDA (Federal Drug Administration).

If you are considering obtaining the vaccine you should discuss it with your physician as there are certain issues which might prevent a person from obtaining the vaccine. The vaccine may be obtained through your physician, local drugstore or the Health Department. Some health insurances cover the cost, but if not it is wise to "shop around" for the best price.

Karen

By the time you read this we will be well into 2013, but Happy New Year anyway.

We are busy with plans for our first Weekend Bible Adventure on February 16th. Please come and enjoy some Christian Praise music with us at the end of the day. We will have an opportunity to listen to the music and fellowship with the young people at 4:00, so please put it on your calendar. There will be a love offering available as the students are coming at no cost to us. Thanks for supporting our young people.

We have many visitors at our services each Sunday and we are making an effort to welcome everyone and invite them to the hospitality center for a cup of coffee. You have an opportunity to offer hospitality by signing up to provide "goodies" just one Sunday out of the entire year. There is a sign up sheet in the narthex to sign on. You can deliver the goodies to the church on Friday or bring them on Sunday by 9:00. If you have trouble getting them here, just call me at home 382-4908, and I will be happy to pick up on Friday or Saturday. "Nothing says loving like something from the oven", just like the Pillsbury ad used to say.

There are always seats available for Sunday school in Martha's class or Jan's class, you are welcome any Sunday in room 106 or room 114. We look forward to seeing you there.

I hope you have signed up for one of the short term Disciple classes, either "Living the Purpose Driven Life" with Jan Wise leading, or "Invitation to the New Testament" with Wayne Brown leading. Spending time in the Word is always well worth your time, and the fellowship with others is very rewarding.

Whoever can be trusted with very little can also be trusted with much, and whoever is dishonest with very little will also be dishonest with much. (Luke 16:10)

Writing this the first of January, I remain somewhat hung over from Yuletide celebrations. My thoughts still linger on the amazing reality of that first Christmas.

Knowing all our family would be here Christmas Day, I prayed, "Lord, please let them ask me one question I can answer." I requested this because all our family use smart phones, know computer jargon, and carry on conversations about a technological world foreign to me.

Traditionally all our family attends Christmas Eve worship. The services have been much the same over the years, so everyone knows what to expect. But this year was different because Pastor Kip preached about the shepherds visiting Mary, Joseph and Jesus. Tom and I were not surprised, but our kids were.

So some of the kids greeted us Christmas Day with "We've got a question for you!" Then they asked, "Why didn't your pastor mention the wisemen at the stable? They were there, too."

When I hesitated, they added, "Weren't they?" When I explained how the wisemen came about two years later, led by a star to a house where they found the "child and his mother," the kids reacted with disbelief. "But the wise men are in all the nativity scenes and in all the pageants we've seen. They must have been there."

Then I replied, "They have it wrong. The Bible says angels announced the birth to Jewish shepherds; a new star proclaimed the birth to Gentile wisemen. There was no star over the stable and no gifts except the baby Jesus." In a state of "tradition-shock", they responded, "How could all those people be wrong?" The kids struggled with having been misled by the church and the secular world in the portrayal of the Christmas story.

I thanked God for giving me a question I could answer. I thanked him that they had listened to the message. But I was saddened having to admit we as "church" had presented the story wrongly to our children and even to our adults.

Some say, "We have to condense it into one story. How could we wait two years before we produce the wise men? What difference does such a small detail make?"

I asked the Lord, "What difference does it make when the wise men came or whether we put a star over the stable? Why did you separate the two visits?"

I found where the scriptures say Jesus came first to the Jew and then to the Gentile. God's plan was to introduce his Son to them in that order.

Our scripture from Luke 16:10 stresses how important it is to faithfully handle the "little details," our carefulness indicating how we will handle larger truths God has for us. It seems the way we tell the Christmas story is much more important than we thought.

READING

“Angel Sister” by Ann H. Gabhart is a novel that takes place in 1936. Kate Merritt works hard to keep her family together. Her father has slipped into alcoholism, her mother is trying to come to grips with their dire financial situation, and her sisters seem to remain blissfully oblivious to all of it. Kate could never have imagined that a dirty, abandoned little girl named Lorena Birdsong would be just what her family needs. The power of true love is revealed, the freedom of forgiveness, and the strength to persevere through troubled times, all against the backdrop of a sultry Kentucky summer.

“The God I Love”, is a memoir by Joni Eareckson Tada. More than three decades ago, a diving accident left Joni Eareckson Tada a quadriplegic. Back then she questioned how a loving God could condemn an active young woman to a lifetime in a wheelchair. Today she is grateful, because it is from this vantage point that Joni has discovered a God who is so magnificent that no circumstance, no matter how terrible, can separate her – or you – from his fierce, tender and enduring love. Billy Graham has said, “Joni is one of the most incredible women I have ever known.”

“Home Town Tales” by Philip Gulley. Our library boasts several books by Mr. Gulley who helps us travel back to a simpler time. Life was uncomplicated and people knew each other by name. Folks cared for one another and were willing to do what was right – no matter the cost. Inspired by his own hometown, Philip Gulley takes us there and shares unforgettable stories with timeless values and enduring virtues. You’ll enjoy these moments of grace and joy – no matter how far from your hometown you’ve traveled.

Speaking of hometowns, Hampton Dunn has written “Back Home”, a history of Citrus County, Florida. The book has just finished being reprinted in December 2012. It is the official book descriptive of Citrus County, Florida. The Dunn residence at Floral City can be toured by groups. Some fossil bones unearthed in Citrus County by a scientist at the Florida State Museum were found to be about eight or ten million years old, a tip-off on the antiquity of this area. The book follows the county’s history through the ages to the county’s bicentennial in 1987 with many photos.

Dale Cramer has written a series of books titled “The Daughters of Caleb Bender”. Book 1 of the series is “Paradise Valley”. The story is inspired by actual events. In 1921, Ohio’s new law forced Caleb Bender’s family to seek sanctuary in the wilds of Mexico, where the government will not interfere with their Amish way of life or take their children from them. Nor will it protect them from the bandits terrorizing the countryside. The Benders establish a homestead in exile in an unfamiliar land where no one speaks the language or knows their ways. Even steadfast Caleb is compelled to wrestle with the demands of faith, only to discover that love has its own demands.

Book 2 is “The Captive Heart”. The Bender family’s second year in Mexico has taken a grievous turn. They’ve been ravaged by disease and preyed upon by ruthless bandits.

Faced with impossible choices, the expatriate Amish discover, more than ever before, what it means to live by faith and not by sight. But it's Miriam who must make the hardest choice as her heart takes her on a new and dangerous course. Domingo is a native Mexican and forbidden to her. He thinks she is beautiful and has proven himself a man of principle, grace and power. Miriam is tormented by conflicting emotions and haunted by vivid dreams.

“For Such a Time As This”, Secrets of Strategic Living from the Book of Esther, written by Ray C. Stedman. Queen Esther faced challenges and threats that were as perilous as those that we deal with today. Because she confronted these challenges with the faith and courage that come from God alone, there is much that we can learn from her life. The author provides a three dimensional view of the book of Esther: as an historical document of actual events that took place in the life of the Jewish people; as a thrilling narrative of romance and suspense that reads like a gripping novel; and as a parable of profound and practical truth for our everyday Christian lives.

Suzanne Woods Fisher is the author of many books about the Amish as well as nonfiction books about them, including “Amish Peace”. Her latest writings are a series called “Stoney Ridge Seasons”. Book One is “The Keeper”. Life on Windmill Farm hasn't been the same since Julie Lapp's father has had trouble with his heart, but that doesn't stop Julie from planning her wedding to her girlhood love, Paul Fisher. However, Paul postpones the wedding once again and Julie is determined to change his mind. She knows that the Bee Man, Roman Troyer, is to blame. Roman is a mysterious man who travels through the Amish communities of Ohio and Pennsylvania with his hives full of bees, renting them out to farmers in need of pollinators. Can Julia secure the future she's always dreamed of or does God have something else in mind?

Book Two is “The Waiting”. This is a story of Jorie King who is waiting for Ben Zook to return to Lancaster County, to settle down, join the church, and to marry her. Jorie is devastated to learn that Ben has been killed. She finds comfort in the friendship of his brother Caleb. Their friendship turns to love with the promise of a fresh beginning – until their worlds are turned upside down. The book transports you into a world where things aren't as simple as they seem.

Book Three is “The Search”. Lainey O'Toole's car breaks down in Stoney Ridge, the very town in which she had made a split-second decision during a childhood crisis and she is forced to face the past and discover how her decision has impacted so many. Her world is about to collide with that of Bess Reihl who is in Stoney Ridge helping her intimidating grandmother recover from surgery. The secrets that come to light will shock them both.

BLANK GREETING CARDS NEEDED!

Have any blank greeting cards that you don't use? Could you donate some to the church? Visitation would be more than grateful! They are sent for many reasons; to our shut-ins, to people who are ill or have had surgery, and for many other reasons as well. Just turn them into the office or the Narthex (small box marked) at your convenience. Thank you!

DO YOU KNOW A DESERVING RECIPIENT?

Time to update your records!

2013 is here and it is a great time to update the information the church has about you and your family. If you have changed any of your contact information this past year, please call Nicole after 12:30 p.m. in the church office at 628-4083 to update your records. Not a member yet but attend regularly? We want you to be included in our Circle of Friends list. Please use the pew pad on Sunday to record your contact information (name, address, & phone number). Please print clearly and include your email. All of this information is vital and will help connect us to each other as the body of Christ. Provide your information with confidence-we will never distribute, sell, or otherwise use your information for anything other than church business.

Weekly Email

Pastor Kip sends out a weekly email every Friday which includes important announcements, information about the coming week's scripture, and usually some things to think about as you prepare for worship on Sunday. If you want to receive this weekly email, please email Theresa in the office at: theresa@1umc.org.

New Member Classes

New member classes will be taught by Pastor Kip Younger, 3 times a year, for anyone who is considering becoming a member of First United Methodist Church or would like to learn more about our Methodist beliefs. The membership classes will be four, 1 hour sessions, on Wednesday evenings 6:30 p.m.-7:30 p.m. in room 306. We will receive our new members on the following Sunday. The three opportunities to join the church in 2013 will begin on February 27th, May 29th, and August 28th.

Membership Transfers

Membership transfers for people who want to transfer their membership from another Methodist church will be held the fourth Sunday of every month. If you are transferring from another denomination or any other church, you are encouraged to attend the new member classes.

If you are interested in exploring membership, have any questions about which category to join by, please contact Pastor Kip, Theresa in the church office at 628-4083, or indicate "wish to join" on the pew pad on Sundays.

PASSION & REFLECTION

What are you passionate about?

I hope you will take some time to answer the question, “What are you passionate about?” before reading on.

We’re probably all passionate about our families. Maybe we are also passionate about our job or our volunteer work. There are endless possibilities. Perhaps we’re passionate about the music on Sunday morning. Or maybe we’re passionate about reading our Bible, our Bible study group, prayer, or worship. Maybe we’re passionate about using our spiritual gifts to serve our Lord or sharing our faith. Perhaps we’re passionate about loving Jesus.

Several years ago I was asked to help our church develop our passionate spirituality (one of the five areas being emphasized by the Florida Conference). What I discovered rather quickly was that one of the things I’m passionate about is passionate spirituality!! I’m passionate about everything to do with worship. So it turned out to be a very good match. It’s my prayer that each of you will find out what your spiritual gifts are and use them to glorify our Lord in that area 19 where you are most passionate.

There is a lot of reflection in spiritual formation events and studies. At our labyrinth each year, we provide a reflection booklet. In the Spiritual Formation Bible many of the footnotes have reflection questions. Much of the writing in the area of spiritual formation gives rise to thinking and reflecting. Most Bible studies are informational – learning information from and about the Scriptures. In a spiritual formation study such as Companions In Christ, we reflect on a small portion of Scripture in order to let it work on us.

Although the church-wide study we have been doing is not a spiritual formation study, the author asks some great questions. Have you been answering the questions at the end of each of the daily readings? Pondering and thinking about them – giving the Lord time to help you with your answers? These questions, if given time, can be formational. Why not take some time and reflect on them or go back later and reflect on the questions.

Lent will begin shortly after you receive this newsletter and I encourage each of you to use the Lenten devotional and your Bible to reflect on those Scriptures the Lord guides you to. May our Lord bless your journey through Lent to the cross.

Marilyn

~ SOLDIERS ~ THE SPECIAL ONES

Soldiers are the brave and proud who give up their life for freedom for you and I. These are the gallant ones who, in time of war, know that this is their calling as each one goes into battle not knowing if they will live or die. The price to pay for we do not understand, you or I, but to those who are called soldiers I am grateful in heart for their courage that I am free.

Many a man of such caliber, who fought to save our country, knows of their comrades in arms who were by their side, who didn't return, and realized it could have been them. Recognition due was not given as though appreciation and gratitude are not words.

Brave are these the men that followed their belief that freedom should reign as the chivalry of clashing swords.

For the flag flies high named "Old Glory" but to these glorious men and women this emblem is the heart and soul invisible in spirit. The phrase "In God We Trust" says it all and to all the fighting forces who watch out for us and keep us safe from our enemies; the candle without a name is visible and it's flame will always stay lit.

22 A New Way of Thinking

It will take just 37 seconds to read this and change your thinking. Two men, both seriously ill, occupied the same hospital room. One man was allowed to sit up in his bed for an hour each afternoon to help drain the fluid from his lungs. His bed was next to the room's only window. The other man had to spend all his time flat on his back.

The men talked for hours on end. They spoke of their wives and families, their homes, their jobs, their involvement in the military service, where they had been on vacation. Every afternoon, when the man in the bed by the window could sit up, he would pass the time by describing to his roommate all the things he could see outside the window.

The man in the other bed began to live for those one hour periods where his world would be broadened and enlivened by all the activity and color of the world outside. The window overlooked a park with a lovely lake where ducks and swans played on the water while children sailed their model boats. Young lovers walked arm in arm amidst flowers of every color and a fine view of the city skyline could be seen in the distance.

As the man by the window described all this in exquisite details, the man on the other side of the room would close his eyes and imagine this picturesque scene. One warm afternoon, the man by the window described a parade passing by. Although the other man could not hear the band - he could see it in his mind's eye as the gentleman by the window portrayed it with descriptive words.

Days, weeks and months passed. One morning, the day nurse arrived to bring water for their baths only to find the lifeless body of the man by the window, who had died peacefully in his sleep. She was saddened and called the hospital attendants to take the body away.

As soon as it seemed appropriate, the other man asked if he could be moved next to the window. The nurse was happy to make the switch, and after making sure he was comfortable, she left him alone. Slowly, painfully, he propped himself up on one elbow to take his first look at the real world outside. He strained to slowly turn to look out the window besides the bed. It faced a blank wall!

The man asked the nurse what could have compelled his deceased roommate who had described such wonderful things outside this window. The nurse responded that the man was blind and could not even see the wall. She said, 'Perhaps he just wanted to encourage you.'

Epilogue: There is tremendous happiness in making others happy, despite our own situations. Shared grief is half the sorrow, but happiness when shared, is doubled. If you want to feel rich, just count all the things you have that money can't buy. Remember: 'today is a gift, that is why it is called The Present.'

Pray that we might live in a world at peace and with the awareness of God's love in every sunset, every flower's unfolding petals, every baby's smile, every lover's kiss, and every wonderful, astonishing, miraculous beat of our heart.

Love is the greatest commandment!

What did Jesus say when asked about the greatest commandment of God?

Write the first letter of each picture on the lines below.

Mark 12:30-31

Answer: Love the Lord your God with all your heart and ... Love your neighbor as yourself.

*From Kevin & LauraGreetings From Sunny and Warm Florida!!

Yes, we are here and have been resting and visiting family over the last five weeks. (Nov.-Jan.) We were blessed to spend Thanksgiving plus another week in California with our oldest son before arriving in Florida in Dec. Laura immediately left for PA to visit with her family and celebrate with her Dad as he turned 80!! It was a wonderful visit; even though both parents became ill with upper respiratory infections that turned into pneumonia. And the day after she flew back to FL her Dad ended up in the hospital. (He has completely recovered...PTL) Of course Laura felt it was necessary to bring back the germs.... she got super sick, then shared it with Kevin.... that was our holidays! We are definitely NOT complaining since we were able to be with our youngest son and most of Kevin's family for Christmas.

-42C in December!!! Boy, are WE glad we're in Florida this winter ☺. Usually it does not get that cold until at least January. Our Russian friends are convinced we left because we wanted to escape another Siberian winter.... well that may be partly true. However, we also wanted to return and spend time with family this trip and raise funds for a couple of new projects we'll share about in the next update.

8,466 miles between here and Horinsk, Siberia. Even though we're not there, we stay in touch so we can lift our folks in prayer and keep you informed as well. You have been keeping one of the girls from our youth group in prayer as she went through surgery in Moscow last November. She returned home in December and is doing well with the apparatus that is extending her chin. Folks are amazed at how well she's doing and even more incredible is how she has experienced very little pain and discomfort. (We're convinced it's because of the huge amount of prayer that has gone up for her and her Mom.... THANK YOU and please don't stop praying just yet!)

Acts 1:8 "...And you shall be witnesses to Me both in Jerusalem and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and to the end of the earth." As believers, our 'Jerusalem' is our neighborhood; our hometown. Our 'Judea' should be somewhere a little farther away...perhaps the next town or county. Our 'Samaria' should be a little farther yet...this is where it may be a little more difficult to get to or move to ☺. And for those willing to "GO" there is the 'end of the earth'. Our small fellowship has been pressing toward that next step in being witnesses to those around them from the very beginning. Now they are looking at the next village as their “Judea”. There are already three or four believers in this other village who have been under the shepherding of a young man from the city over the past few years. This man’s wife is NOT interested in the work and the weekly 120-mile trip that has taken its toll on this man and his family. We have had a working relationship with this pastor so he felt quite comfortable in asking us for assistance. Given our is primarily and ethnically 27 Buriat as well as most people speak Buriat on the street. Fortunately, Valary knows Buriat quite well. Our fellowship laid hands on these two families in January to officially send them out to the village of Kijinga. What an open door our Father has given. Please keep this new work in prayer as these families are taking a huge step of faith in sharing the Good News!

proximity and previous connections with the people there, we have decided to send a team from Horinsk twice a month so they can have a Sunday service. Valary and his family as well as another man from our fellowship and his family will be heading over together. This village

Have a Blessed February and if you want to read a good book on some foundational truths, go to the web site goodseed.com and look for the book titled “Stanger on the Road to Emmaus”.

This is a book that we have used for several years and have had GREAT success! (It is also available as a free e-book from their site).
